Woman Bares Crime-Warped Soul and Mind As Execution Awaited

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is an amazing death cell interview. It tells the thoughts of the woman as she faces electrocution next Monday; strikingly reveals the warped philosophy of a criminal!

LAKE CHARLES, La., Aug. 4—Toni Jo Henry balanced her chair against the thick steel bars of her death cell and said she might as well "kick the lid off."

"Most folks wonder what goes on in the mind of a condemned person," she said. "All right. I'll tell you."

Toni Jo Henry, 26, a slim brunette, is sentenced to die here August 10 for the 1940 St. Valentine Day slaying of a Houston, Tex., salesman.

"In the first place, the victim doesn't return to haunt me. I never think of him. I've known all along it would be my life for his. I believe mine is worth as much to me as his was to him. I wonder though, sometimes, why it's legal now for some fellow to kill me."

She lighted a cigaret and inhaled absently, fingering her cigaret lighter.

"That lighter is guaranteed for a lifetime," she laughed. "You know one person whose lifetime lighter lasted a lifetime. Funny, I never thought it would outlast me. Maybe I'll smash it August the tenth."

Toni Jo is a nimble conversationalist; speaks with a slight

Spanish accent, a tricky hangover "from learning to talk Tex-Mex when I lived in Texas." She never finished grade school.

It was in San Antonio, Tex., in 1939 that she met Claude "Cowboy" Henry, a former boxer. They were married and Henry subsequently was sentenced to 50 years in a Texas penitentiary for the fatal shooting of an officer of the law.

Toni Jo has testified repeatedly that she and her accomplice Finnon Burks killed Joseph P. Callaway, 42, that they might use his car in robbing a bank. The money in turn, was to be employed in effecting "Cowboy" Henry's release from prison.

Explaining her husband's place in the pattern of her crime,

Toni Jo said:

"I was a prostitute at 13; a drug addict at 16. No one ever cared about me before him. That guy is the king of my heart. He gave me a home and he got that drug monkey off my back and that drug monkey is a big strong thing."

"I remember the day I told him I was a coke and the look on his face. He thought I just smoked Marijuana and grinned. But when I told him my train went a lot further than Marijuanna he took me to a hotel room and I lay there in bed for a week and he would come in now then and ask me how I was

NAZIS RESUME DRIVE FOR CAUCASUS OIL

Animals Burned Alive in Ringling Circus Fire

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

It was a clerk in a store here who halted me and said:

"Can't you tell the public, or at least those who make purchases which are to be charged to their account, to please—p-l-e-a-s-e—give their name and address to the clerk who waits upon them, without the necessity of the clerk to ask the name and address?"

Sure I'll say something about it. You see clerks can not possibly know all names and addresses, and regardless of how prominent a person may be, or how often purchases are made at a store, some of the clerks may not immediately recall the name and it saves embarrassment to both the purchaser and the clerk if the purchaser will give name and address without having to be asked for it.

Don't take it for granted that the clerk knows your name. They may think you are Mrs. John Smith when in reality your name may be Mrs. Princess Ange Angelface . . . that goes for the men, too.

The death of Elmer Truitt in Gallipolis, Friday afternoon, brings to memory one of the most weird incidents in my newspaper career.

It was many years ago when Elmer Truitt as a small boy living with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Truitt, on a small eminence a mile south of Bloomingburg.

Dr. Roy E. Brown, who died a number of years ago, called me from bed one morning about 2 o'clock, asked me to get dressed and said he would pick me up in 10 minutes.

At the appointed time I was standing on the sidewalk waiting. Dr. Brown halted an instant, I climbed into his car, and he headed out the Columbus Road.

On the way out Dr. Brown explained to me that the two Truitt boys were desperately ill with diphtheria, and their father Sam, by reason of his religious belief, refused to permit them to have medical treatment. Dr. Brown was on his way out as township physician to try to convince Truitt that medical attention was necessary.

Arriving at the Truitt home Dr. Brown told me to "come on in, but put your hands in your pockets and keep them there," so I walked into the home where the two boys lay at the point of death with diphtheria, and the father was praying at the bedside of his two sons.

Dr. Brown questioned Truitt at some length to bring out his religious belief in connection with healing his sons without medicine, and then told him that the law required that medical attention be given his sons.

"I always obey the law, and if the law requires it, then go ahead," he told Dr. Brown.

One of the sons died within a day or two but Elmer was saved.

Reason for Let-up in U-boat Activity in Mediterranean In Conjectural

(By The Associated Press)

Four more recent ship sinkings were announced by the Navy yesterday amid conflicting declarations from two quarters on the continued success of Axis submarines in the Western Atlantic.

As the Associated Press tabulation of announced wartime merchant losses for the area rose to 412, Simon Lake, pioneer submarine builder, asserted in Washington in advocating a fleet of undersea freighters. "We have not yet seen the full fury of the (enemy) submarines such as will probably descend upon us in the days to come," He testified before a Senate committee.

At Balboa, C. Z., meanwhile, Rear Admiral Clifford Evans Van Hook reported that during July, the Caribbean—where in a 12-day period raiding U-boats picked off 13 victims the month before—had been particularly free of effective enemy attacks.

Admiral Van Hook told newsmen that the increasing freedom from submarine attacks in the Caribbean might be due to the recent extension of the convoy system in those waters and might also be a result of "the urgent need of the Germans and Italians to employ their submarines elsewhere."

Bedlam Breaks Loose When Cleveland Lot Swept by Indescribable Agony

LIONS AND TIGERS AFLAME

Elephants and Camels and Other Big Beasts Break Loose in Panic

CLEVELAND, Aug. 4—(AP)—Fire today swept the menagerie tent of the Ringling Brothers Circus today, destroying at least 50 wild and trained animals.

Terrified animals were burned alive in their cages before the eyes of 5,000 persons at the circus grounds on Cleveland's lakefront.

Other animals, including an elephant and several giraffes, tore loose from their manacles. Police used riot guns to destroy the giraffes.

The crowd watched the catastrophe with helpless fascination. Some of the animals raced at large, aflame. At one point when the fire was at its height, an ostrich with plumes blazing ran from the menagerie tent. The flames were patted out by circus employees and the bird was captured by trainers.

An eye-witness counted 30 carcasses lying amid the embers of the menagerie grounds and 20 others, their pelts charred, lying in their cages.

At that time the fire was under control, although straw in the tent was still smoldering. No official estimate of the damage was immediately available, but the loss was believed to amount to tens of thousands of dollars.

The blaze apparently started on top of one of the animal cages and spread quickly through the rest of the menagerie.

All available squads of police were called to the scene to handle the noon hour crowd of 5,000 persons which was drawn by the heavy smoke and billowing flames.

Eight camels tethered inside the tent were burned to death and 10 other camels were led from the flames with their hair burned almost entirely from their backs.

A large elephant, terribly burned, was put out of pain by circus attendants, who fired eight revolver shots into the animal's brain.

Numerous monkeys, birds and dogs were among the other animals destroyed.

GRIM PREVIEW OF FUTURE

Tough Days Ahead for Civilians

By JAMES MARLOW and WILLIAM PINKERTON
(Wide World News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—Don't look now because you won't notice anything from where you're sitting, home in the kitchen or at the comfortable fireside, but changes are on the way in a hurry.

So far most Americans on the homefront this war has been a breeze. Sugar has been rationed but in quantities ample for anyone's normal needs. Traveling has been curtailed by the rubber shortage and, on the east coast, by gasoline rationing.

But beyond that there have been few changes.

Now it finally has been recognized that there are not enough raw materials for full war and civilian production also. So civilian production will begin to take a beating in earnest.

However, the real effect of this slash, observers believe, will not appear before next spring.

Economists of the Research Institute of America, a private organization, take a view of the future and give this grim description of what to look for:

"Continued military reverses, faltering in economic planning, growing public impatience with the conduct of the war

Allied Base on New Guinea Threatened By New Jap Move

(By the Associated Press)

Japanese sea-borne reinforcements were reported moving down the coast of New Guinea today, bolstering a land threat to the United Nations outpost at Port Moresby, while elsewhere in the war Pacific theater Allied fliers hammered the enemy in many sectors.

Advices to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia said enemy ships were en route to the Papuan Peninsula, presumably to strengthen Japanese forces which landed July 22 in the Gona-Buna area across the 120-mile-wide peninsula from Port Moresby.

Allied headquarters said the situation was still unchanged at Kokoda, halfway across the Peninsula, the farthest point of the Japanese advance toward Port Moresby. United Nations planes strafed Japanese troops and positions in the sector yesterday, starting numerous fires.

Other Allied planes raided the Law-Salamaua area, and hit a Japanese cargo ship which was beached in flames.

On the China war front, Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced that U. S. army air raiders dropped a 550-pound bomb squarely on Japanese headquarters at Linchuan, in Kiangsi Province, and machine-gunned two Japanese river transports.

American fliers also rained quarter-ton bombs on Japanese barracks and troop positions at Linchuan.

Simultaneously, a Chinese army spokesman reported, Chinese troops encircled Linchuan and reached the city's west and south gates.

A Chinese government spokesman, discussing the change in the China war since the U. S. air force swung into action a month ago, declared:

"Before the American air force appeared, the Japanese could do great damage to us even with a small air force. Now the situation is changing."

"Japan is getting a headache trying to solve the hitherto non-existent problem of protecting her airfields and strongholds, which are widely scattered and great in number."

At the same time, the United Nations air force headquarters in India announced that American bombers, flying through rain so thick it was "like submarine navigation," had pounded the Japanese-occupied Myitkyina airbase in central Burma with such devastating effect that it had been knocked out as a base for enemy attacks on allied planes ferrying war goods to China.

Woman Only Survivor Of Boating Party of 14; Swims 7 Miles to Shore

'CHUTIST TESTS NEW LIFE RAFT

Equipment Designed for Fliers Used After Jump Into Indian Lake

DAYTON, Aug. 4—(AP)—Army Air Corps officers expressed satisfaction today over the first public demonstration of a new one-man life-raft designed for airplane pilots and crew members forced down on water.

Developed at Wright Field the raft made its debut yesterday at Indian Lake, 60 miles north, with Paratrooper David Allen as master of ceremonies.

The 24-year-old first lieutenant from Salt Lake City parachuted from a twin-motored plane wearing the deflated raft like a cushion in a packet 18x12x4 inches.

The 12-pound raft is inflated by pulling a cord which releases gas from a large cylinder. In 10 seconds the folded rubber raft blossoms into a six-foot orange boat resembling a huge oval doughnut but with a floor in the center.

Attached is a sea anchor to prevent drift, which can be used as a bailing bucket, two wire-stiffened paddles about the size of those used in table tennis but with straps for the hands. A canteen of water and two days' rations in a waterproof tin.

SECRET NAZI PLANE DOWNED IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Aug. 4—(AP)—The secrets of Germany's new Focke Wulf-190 fighter, one of Germany's most effective weapons on the western air front, now are in the possession of the British Air Ministry.

An FW-190 was brought down in Britain in good condition, it was announced today, despite German orders that these planes were not to venture across the English channel.

The stories circulate anyway through the pretty college town of Missoula.

The Japanese have picked on a curious pastime. They make gadgets from pebbles. Vases, bowls, what-nots. They'll sit alone for hours picking small pebbles from the gravel on the camp roads. Then they trot silently back to their quarters and stick them together into some sort of gadget. They all seem to Soviet dispatches declared today that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies, sweeping around the German flanks, had cut off Nazi forces in the "battle of the bend" 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, but the invaders continued to surge forward on the lower Don River and in the Caucasus.

NAZIS HURL IN RESERVES
MOSCOW, Aug. 4—(AP)—A great weight of German tanks and reserve troops, actively supported by clouds of dive-bombers, pressed heavily on the entire Soviet southern front today, and a Russian communiqué acknowledged that Red army forces had fallen back to new positions in the Salsk region 100 miles southeast of Rostov "after repulsing fierce enemy attacks."

rolled up to the Kuban River deep in the Caucasus at several points and had captured the town of Voroshilovsk, 180 miles southeast of Rostov.

If true, this would mean that the Germans had already advanced nearly one-third the distance to the great Caucasus oil fields and far beyond the sectors noted in Soviet communiques.

The Kuban River, which crosses the Rostov-Batu rail line, empties into the Black Sea just below the Kerch Peninsula.

A German communiqué said Voroshilovsk, described as an important industrial sector, fell to Nazi shock troops after violent house-to-house fighting.

A British radio broadcast reported that the Russians had blown up a dam and flooded the Manych River valley to stem the advance of German armored units north of Salsk, 100 miles southeast of Rostov.

There was still no indication that the Soviet Trans-Caucasian army had gone into action, and it seemed likely that the force was being held in reserve to make a stand in the rugged mountains which guard the approach to the rich Baku-Batum oil fields from the north.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that Premier Mussolini, speaking in northeast Italy near the border of Slovenia, had sounded a warning against "idle dreams" about a second front.

"The law in Italy will be applied in unrelenting manner against those who nourish idle dreams on this or that side of the frontier," Il Duce was quoted as saying, after conferring with his officers on measures to keep order in Axis-conquered Yugoslavia.

Lindbergh Testifies At Nazi Leader's Trial

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 4—(AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh made a brief appearance as a defense witness today in the sedition trial of William Dudley Pelley, testifying he had made no effort to learn of the public's attitude toward the war since the United States entered the conflict.

"I have devoted my time and energy to doing what I can to help with the war effort," the noted aviator replied when Floyd G. Christian, defense attorney, asked what he had observed as to any change in public opinion about this nation's participation in the war.

"I have made no effort to learn of any change in the public's attitude since the United States went to war."

Earlier Lindbergh, who was active in the America First movement prior to America's entry into the war, had testified it was his impression that "the majority of the people of this country were opposed to going into war—that is before we were attacked."

Nazis, Italians and Japs Won't Mix; Scowl at Each Other in U. S. Camps

By SIGRID ARNE
(Wide World News Service)

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 4—It seems to be quite a problem out here to keep the hundreds of Italians and Japanese happy at the Fort Missoula concentration camp.

They're living in a place that looks like an expensive summer resort. They get three squares a day. They have practically no work to do.

But they still glower at each other. The camp guards never have seen an Italian say so much as "good morning" to a Japanese. The internees just don't seem to grasp the kernel of the Axis philosophy—You know, that the Japanese and Italians have a lot in common and therefore should be as happy as bugs-in-a-rug when they're together.

So there had to be special arrangements at the Missoula camp. Of course, no one at all gets into the camp. The guards even arrest people who try to take pictures through the fence. But

If you can find the records for 1892 you'll see that Jack McAuliffe knocked out Billy Myer in 15 rounds for the lightweight title on Sept. 5; the next day George Dixon kayoed Jack Skelly in eight heats to take the featherweight crown and it was on Sept. 7, that Jim Corbett knocked out John L. Sullivan to inaugurate a new heavyweight reign.

First Defeat
In the Industrial League game between the Fayette Grange and the American Legion, the Legion boys handed the Grangers their first defeat of the year by a score of 5 to 3. The Legion's first score was made in the second by Spetnagel, who walked and eventually came home on a wild pitch. The Grange's was made by Terhune, who hit a home run. In the third inning Allen and Mitchell of the Legion crossed the home plate to add two more runs to their score. In the fifth inning, Harrop of the Grange got to second base on a double error and Yeoman, the next man to bat, sent him home on a double. This made the score 3 to 2. In the sixth inning, Russ Warner of the Fayette Grange scored to tie up the score. The Legion had first "bats" and, in the seventh inning, Ellis, the first man, struck out. Then Shipley walked. Next man up, McCoy, also struck out. Rittenhouse, who had been sent out to pitch for the Legion in Red Reno's place in the fifth inning, hit a long homer into left center field to score Shipley and himself.

One game will be played Tuesday night beginning at 8:15 P.M. between Light's Dairy and the Selden Grange. This is an industrial league game.

'Donkey Ball Game' One of Two Specials On Schedule Here

Plans have been completed for the two special games here within the next week, one on Friday night and another on Monday night.

The game Friday night will be between the American Legion and the 905th Regiment team from Patterson Field. The same team was here about two weeks ago and were defeated by the Legion by a score of 4 to 3. These soldiers make the trips to their games in large army trucks and they also bring along some fans. The game will start about 8:30 P. M. The other Industrial League game, scheduled for the same evening will be played before the Legion-Soldier game. The admission will be 10 cents.

The second special game will be a "donkey ball game," which will be played next Monday night, the second game of the evening. The stars of this game will be the members of the American Legion team and the members of Alber's. The donkeys are being furnished and the players are ready to go. A large crowd is expected for this funny game, which will begin about 8:30 P. M. The admission price is 28 cents for adults and 17 cents for children (up to 15 years of age).

Two-Night Baseball In East Is Doubtful Because of Dimout

By JUDSON BAILEY
(By The Associated Press)

The dimout on the east coast blacked out the ninth inning of a bitter battle between the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants last night, leaving 57,305 spectators in confusion, and made continuance of the two-night form of baseball in New York a matter of doubt.

About all the fans were sure of was that the National League champions had won the ball game 7-4 with Dixie Walker belting a three-run homer in the third inning and Dolph Camilli hitting the jackpot in the seventh inning with a clout against the rightfield roof while the bases were loaded.

The Giants also scored four runs. Trailing by three runs they came to bat in the last half of the ninth and Bill Werber singled on the first pitching, then Mel Ott walked. The crowd was in an uproar, sensing that Wyatt was weakening, and that Babe Young who had hit a homer earlier, was next at bat, to be followed by Willard Marshall and Buster Maynard, a couple of sluggers.

However, Empire George Magerkurth at this point signalled the game was over because of the dimout rules.

The Brooklyn team remained in the field for several minutes while the big crowd that had turned out for the benefit of the army emergency relief fund booed long and loud.

President Horace Stoneham of the Giants said there would never be another two-night game in his ball park after tonight.

The Giant-Dodger contest was the only major league game yesterday.

Clara Louise Vannorsdall Married in Elida Church to Corporal J. P. Holosevsky

In a quiet and impressive ceremony performed Saturday evening at 6:30 in the Elida Methodist Church, Miss Clara Louise Vannorsdall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Vannorsdall of Jeffersonville, became the bride of Corporal Jaroslav P. Holosevsky, of Bedford, now stationed with the Air Force Band at Baer Field, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Dr. Charles S. Heininger, pastor of the church and former pastor at the Spring Grove Church, read the single ring ceremony in the presence of a few immediate friends. Mr. and Mrs. John Kane, of Dayton, cousins of the bride with whom she had made her home while employed in Dayton, attended the bride and groom.

The beautiful bride wore a becoming traveling suit of powder blue with navy accessories and a corsage of lilies and yellow roses, while Mrs. Kane was similarly attired.

Miss Vannorsdall was graduated from Jeffersonville High School in the class of 1938 and later attended Ohio University and Miami Jacobs College and for some time has been employed at Dayton. She is an accomplished violinist and has made a wide circle of admirers with her public appearances.

Corp. Holosevsky is a graduate of Bedford, Ohio High School and was a senior in Oberlin College when called to the army. He will be remembered by many Jeffersonville people as a gifted violinist who has appeared on programs during visits there. He is now heard from Ft. Wayne, Station WWO, at 7 P.-M. on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Holosevsky will make their home at Fort Wayne, while he is stationed at Baer Field.

Large Attendance At Country Club Potluck Supper

With one of the largest gatherings Washington Country Club members enjoyed the fortnightly covered dish supper Monday evening.

These affairs have become quite popular with both the older and younger members during the hot summer months, and are eagerly anticipated.

Golf for both the ladies and men precede the supper, with a contest for low score held among the fairer sex. Miss Ruth Sexton was presented the award for this honor on Monday evening.

Mrs. Leo Fedigan, Mrs. F. E. Hill and Mrs. W. E. Farr were hostesses for this week's party, and had planned a most delightful menu, consisting of all sorts of good eats.

The bountiful supper was served cafeteria style from one long table centered with a watergarden of midsummer flowers. Huge platters of fried chicken were the center of attraction with the numerous other good dishes placed around them.

Small tables for groups of four and eight were arranged comfortably in the spacious dining room, and the supper hour particularly gay and congenial.

Cards and informal visiting were the evening's pleasures.

Out-of-town guests for the evening party were Mr. and Mrs. Macaulay Whitfield, of Detroit, Michigan, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Martin, of Des Moines, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Anril Kirkpatrick, of New Holland, Miss Peggy Ann Reichelderfer, of Circleville and Miss Anne Elyar Pitzer, of Georgetown.

Lovely Luncheon Party Honors Mrs. Schmidt

Mrs. A. B. Crawford and Miss Maizie Rowe were gracious hostesses Monday afternoon, when they complimented Mrs. Maud Schmidt, of Cleveland, with a luncheon party.

The two hostesses invited their guests to the Devins Park home where a most delicious one o'clock luncheon was served at the dining room table, perfectly appointed.

Following the happy luncheon hour, Mrs. Crawford took the guests to her lovely new home where the afternoon was enjoyably spent in informal visiting with Mrs. Schmidt, who has many friends and admirers during her visits with her sister, Mrs. Glenn Rodgers.

Included with Mrs. Schmidt, were Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, Mrs. Oscar Wike, Mrs. Martha Mark, Mrs. Ada Lanum and Mrs. Eliza Waddell.

The last meeting of this year of the Washington Court House WCTU was held in The First Baptist Church, with Mrs. Omar Schwartz, president, conducting the meeting.

In opening the meeting, Mrs. Schwartz resigned her office stating that it was because of health, and also that she might not be in this community during the coming year.

After a song in unison, Miss Janice Murray, an accomplished young pianist, very skillfully played "Scarface" and "Butterfly" by Schumann.

Responsive readings were given with the topic "Men God Loves," and the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Schwartz read a beautiful poem "I Would Be True."

The secretary and treasurer's report preceded the scripture and devotionals by Mrs. John Case.

Mrs. Ed Darlington very interestingly read selections taken from Union Signal, a national paper. This was a plea to abolish race tracks.

Mrs. Schwartz closed the meeting with a reading taken from the Social Progress, Priority and Health.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be the election of officers.

A song and the benediction closed the program.

M.H.G. Class Picnic

The M.H.G. Class of the First Presbyterian Church assembled at the country home of Mrs. Herbert Clickner on the Columbus Road, for a picnic supper Monday evening.

Most delightful and pleasant hospitalities had been provided by Mrs. Clickner and her assisting committee, Mrs. Ralph Hays, Mrs. H. W. Melvin, Mrs. T. C. McArthur and Mrs. Peter Smeltzer, and the evening was most enjoyable.

The supper consisted of all good dishes that are enjoyed in an outdoor meal, and were most delicious.

Chairs and tables were arranged in the large front yard of the lovely country home, which was a perfect place to hold the supper.

Miss Clara Evans, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Maud Howland, of Bloomingburg, were guests with the members.

'REAP THE WILD WIND' AT STATE THEATRE SUNDAY

NEWSPAPER CONTEST 2nd DAY ART

IDENTIFY THIS SCENE FROM CECIL B. DEMILLE'S ALBUM OF SCREEN HITS! Win guest tickets to see DeMille's greatest, "Reap The Wild Wind"

This scene is from _____
The principal actors shown are _____ My name is _____ My address is _____

For thirty years Cecil B. DeMille has been making great motion pictures. From "The Squaw Man," produced in 1912 to his latest Technicolor epic, "Reap the Wild Wind," which opens Sunday at the State Theatre, DeMille productions have always been the standouts in the motion picture industry. If you know your Cecil B. DeMille epics, here's a chance for you to win a pair of guest tickets to see "Reap the Wild Wind" as Mr. DeMille's guest!

Here's how you go about it: Every day for four days, beginning yesterday, we will publish in this spot a photograph of Ray Milland, Paulette Goddard and John Wayne—who head the giant cast of "Reap the Wild Wind," looking through Mr. DeMille's scrapbook of hits. Each day a new page will be exposed and a scene from a former DeMille screen hit will be revealed. It is up to you to name the picture from which the scene is taken and to name the principal player or players whose pictures you see in the scene.

Do this for four days, filling in the information in the spaces provided. When you have finished pin the four panels securely together, and rush them to the "Reap the Wild Wind" Contest Editor of this newspaper.

Judging will be done on the basis of correct identifications of pictures and players. To be eligible for a prize all entries must be in the hands of the Contest Editor no later than Friday; contestants must agree that the opinion of the judges will in all cases remain final; all entries become the property of the State Theatre and will not be returned, and no correspondence will be entered into regarding entries.

Now, study the scene above! It should be a snap for you DeMille fans—it's a lot of fun, and it may be profitable! Win a visit to the State Theatre on Sunday when "Reap the Wild Wind" opens. It is DeMille at his best—which means the best in action, thrills, romance and spectacle!

GERMANS RESUME DRIVE FOR CAUCASUS OIL BUT STOPPED ON DON BEND

day bulletin from Red army headquarters acknowledged that the Russians had retreated in the Salsk region, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, after thousands of wild-riding Cossacks had broken up a series of Nazi assaults.

Shouting "Ne Shagu Nazadi" (not one step backward), the Don and Kuban Cossacks were credited with beating off two regiments of tank-led German infantry but subsequently were forced to withdraw.

Latest Soviet dispatches reported fighting in only two Caucasus zones—at Salsk and Kuschchevka, 50 miles south of Rostov.

A Red army communiqué said the Germans "several times attempted unsuccessfully to force crossings over a river" in the Kuschchevka sector, 138 miles north of the Maikop oil fields in the foothills of the Caucasus mountains. Beyond the towering ranges lie the main Baku and Batum fields which produce most of Russia's oil.

In the battle of the Don River Bend, Soviet dispatches said German troops "in superior numbers" broke through Red army lines and attempted to cross the river at Kletskaia, 80 miles above Stalingrad, but Russian forces cut swiftly around the Nazi flanks and severed their communications.

Front-line reports to Izvestia, Soviet government newspaper, said the Russians now were attempting to wipe out the advanced Nazi forces before they could re-establish contact.

Izvestia said the Germans were trying to fly ammunition and fuel to the trapped Nazis, but declared the Red air force was fighting off the supply planes.

A Soviet communiqué reported that Marshal Timoshenko's stiffening legions also threw back repeated assaults by tank-led Italian infantry in the Kletskaia sector and killed 2,000 Axis troops.

On the lower Don, the Russians conceded that German forces were continuing to pour across the river in the Tsimliansk sector, 120 miles upstream from Rostov, but declared that here and elsewhere the Nazis were paying a bloody toll.

the main attractions of the "greatest show on earth," was not harmed.

There were scenes of indescribable animal agony. Lions, still alive, paced helplessly in their flaming cages, the hair burned off. A brace of Bengal tigers were similarly trapped.

A number of zebras created a near-panic among the thousands of spectators when they broke loose from their halters and galloped onto the nearby New York Central Railroad tracks between U. S. Coast guardsmen, armed with rifles, and a city detective, Lloyd Trunk, shot some of the agonized animals as quickly as the circus veterinary indicated their cases were hopeless.

Girl performers in the circus joined toiling men in beating down the flames and doing what they could to quiet the animals.

Girls stepped into several buckets of water and drenched the

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(P)—Moderate buying, some of it credited to mills, pushed wheat prices higher today in the almost complete absence of selling pressure. Despite the firm undertone, trade was light throughout the session.

Strength in cotton and firmness in outlying markets helped local grains. There was some belief that an increase in the spring wheat movement will produce a corresponding expansion in volume of flour buying, particularly because market levels are far below the government loan price.

Wheat closed 1/4-1/8c higher than yesterday's finish, Sept. 1.17 1/4-1/8c, Dec. 1.20 1/4-1/8c, and corn was up 1/8-1/4c, Sept. 87 1/2c. Oats finished 1/8-1/4c lower, rye up 1/8-1/4c and soybeans 1/4-1/8c higher.

ket brigades formed by members of the circus' own fire-fighting force.

Police rushed seven ambulance to the scene, and Cleveland firemen took fire pumps and a rescue squad to the fire. The crew of a water pumping station, just across Lakeside Avenue, joined in fighting the flames.

It was the second major disaster to befall the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus in two years. Last season many of the show's elephants were poisoned.

Fortunately, the fire was confined principally to the managerie. The famed big top itself escaped.

The circus opened here yesterday for a four-day stand.

This afternoon's performance was canceled, but John Ringling North announced the circus would reopen with tonight's performance.

Confusion Taken Out of Selective Service System

MARRIED MEN, BEFORE DEC. 8, GET DEFERMENT

Workers in Vital War Jobs Not To Be Called If They Cannot Be Replaced

With more than 700 young men from Washington C. H. and Fayette County already (specific figures are not given out) in the country's armed forces and more marking time until they are called, the Selective Service has touched directly nearly every home and has been and still is one of the chief centers of interest in the home front in wartime.

Nowadays, whenever a group gathers the subject of the draft seldom fails to creep into the conversation sooner or later. Much of the discussion has stemmed from the confusion and uncertainty and the ever-changing order and interpretations. But, the system is now ridding itself of much of this although it still faces a multitude of human problems.

John H. Colburn, a member of the Columbus staff of the Associated Press, recently made a study of the Selective Service system as the basis for an interpretive story in which he wrote that much of the uncertainty regarding deferments was dissolved by a national directive effective in mid-July which established deferments to maintain family relationships. Before that there was some difference of policy among Ohio's 330 draft boards over operations of the draft.

That mid-July directive is now guiding Fayette County's draft board as calls for more men for induction go out.

During a transition period of the past two weeks there has been more confusion among persons unable to reconcile inductions with policies outlined in the new directive. That confusion resulted because the Army's manpower demands would not permit an abrupt dislocation of inductions.

In order to keep men pouring into Army reception centers, boards drafted some married men who had been reclassified in 1-A and whose selection was imminent when the new deferment categories became operative.

The new directive provided in general that single men and men married since Dec. 8, 1941, would be drafted before men who were maintaining a bona fide marriage relationship before that date. Deferment also is specified for both single and married men in vital war jobs.

Selective Service officials stressed, though, that deferments should be regarded strictly as such and not exemptions. The entire Selective Service System is now operated with this policy in mind:

- (1) To provide sufficient men for the armed forces.
- (2) To provide sufficient persons to maintain war production and essential services.
- (3) To protect family relationships and actual dependents as long as possible.

Since national security will be dependent on the armed forces, the manpower supply factor is one that Col. C. W. Goble, state draft director, must keep uppermost in mind.

That is why deferment categories are flexible enough to empower him to order 3-A married men reclassified when the Army's demands for more men can not be met from the available supply of single men or married men without bona fide family affiliations.

That is why some married men with working wives; or married men without children; or married men not working in a war industry may be drafted before a husky single man whose abilities in a war industry make him more essential there than on a fighting front.

But there also is another side of the industrial picture that will change the occupational deferment status of many men. Women being trained for war jobs soon will be replacing many single men in essential positions, freeing them for military service.

Draft officials cite this as only one of the many changes which makes it almost impossible to set up hard and fast Selective Service policies to remain effective over a long period.

Letters reach state and local draft officials daily from mothers and wives complaining that their son or husband has been drafted while they know men who should be in the Army, yet are continuing their normal civilian life.

Such letters generally are from persons unfamiliar with draft board operations. Some draft boards will cover districts in which a large number of eligible single men reside. Only a few married men have been called from such districts. In smaller towns and rural areas married men with low order numbers have been hard hit.

DIVORCES GRANTED

The second was Ruth Paxson from Charles R. Paxson, also on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

The trend will be stopped, for a while at least, by operations under the new directive which sets-up these groups in the order in which local boards should call them:

- (1) Single men, with no dependents;
- (2) Single men, with dependents, not contributing to the war effort;
- (3) Single men, with dependents, contributing to the war effort;
- (4) Married men, not engaged in the war effort, living with their wives;
- (5) Married men, engaged in the war effort, and living with their wives;
- (6) Married men, not engaged in the war effort, but living with wife and children, or children only;
- (7) Married men, engaged in the war effort, with wife and children, or children only.

Hereafter, before boards start dipping into and reclassifying into 1-A men with dependents or partial dependents they will consult the state director.

Such notifications will keep the director informed constantly of the progress of local boards toward reclassification of all groups so that he can adjust his calls for men to prevent one local board from calling registrants from one group substantially in advance of the time when other local boards are calling them from that same group.

That means, when one board exhausts its supply of eligible single men it will not be called upon to draw on bona fide married men until the state is unable to meet its manpower quota from the supply of single men available in other boards. The size of such quotas now are a military secret and depend on the state of the national emergency.

Goble in a recent bulletin to boards said:

"The policy for the present is that men married before December 8, 1941, and at a time when selection was not imminent, and who are maintaining a bona fide family relationship with wives or children, or both, are to be placed in classes 3-A or 3-B until local boards have exhausted the supply of single registrants without dependents (except those granted occupational deferments), those with partial dependents, including parents, brothers, sisters, etc., and married registrants with partial dependents with whom they maintain no bona fide family relationship."

Boards down to rock-bottom for 1-A men got this suggestion from Goble for meeting current calls:

"Mail questionnaires to all third registrants and proceed to classify single registrants without dependents, single registrants with partial dependents and married registrants with partial dependents who are not maintaining a bona fide family relationship, in Class 1-A if they are not entitled to be placed in other classifications."

Boards also can draw on fifth registrants—boys 18 and 19 years old—as soon as they reach their 20th birthday.

And beginning with the August calls the army's drafting a number of 1-B men—registrants with minor physical disabilities. The future extent to which this class will be called will be based on the uses found for those inducted this month.

Boards still shy men with no dependents or family relationships after exhausting all sources then will advise the state director.

Previously, that's when the boards called married men, especially ones with working wives or wives with independent incomes. Now, under the new directive, registrants are classified according to family relationship not financial dependency.

Selective Service officials emphasized, though, that no one could say how long it would be possible to postpone calling married men with bona fide dependents.

That is why, they pointed out, Congress enacted legislation guaranteeing financial aid for dependents of men in the armed forces.

Men directing the draft administration summarized the situation with this view: Every effort will be made to protect family relationships through deferments, but such deferments can continue only so long as Ohio can contribute from other sources its share of men necessary to fight and win the war against the Axis.

KATYDIDS SINGING RECALLS OLD BELIEF

The recent hot weather has started the katydids to singing after nightfall and their "katydid" katydid" may now be heard on all sides in some parts of the rural community, and even in this city.

There is an old saying that when the first katydids are heard it will be six weeks until the first frost, and in the present case that would mean the first frost by about the middle of September.

NAVY IS OPEN TO ENLISTMENTS BY REGISTRANTS

Regulations Clarified by Statement of Officer in Charge of Recruiting

Selective Service registrants can enlist in the United States Navy up until the time they are inducted into the army. They can be accepted without any release from their draft board, even after they have been given a preliminary examination, classed as 1-A and notified to appear for induction.

That was the gist of a statement by Chief Electrician's Mate William Donald as he discussed the enlistment regulations when he was in Washington C. H. on the last of regular periodical visits. He is stationed at Chillicothe at a recruiting sub-station of the navy. He comes here once or twice each week for interviews at the fire department adjoining the City Hall.

Flood of Inquiries

Pointing out that the recruiting station has received a flood of inquiries concerning navy enlistments by young men in line for selective service induction into the army, he quoted a statement by Lieutenant L. E. Oehring, officer-in-charge of the Cincinnati recruiting district as saying:

"Men registered under Selective Service are free to enlist voluntarily in the Navy up to the time they are inducted into the Army. It is understood that registrants now are inducted into the Army immediately after examination by the Army Medical Examining board.

"Classification as 1-A, preliminary examination by the local board physician and notice to appear for induction are not to be construed as examination by the Army Medical Board and therefore do not constitute a bar to voluntary enlistment in the Navy.

No Release Necessary

Lt. Oehring asserted that, because of an apparent misunderstanding either on the part of selectees or the local board members, numerous recent applicants seeking enlistment in the Navy in this district have been under the impression that it was necessary first to obtain a release from their local draft board.

"No such release is necessary," Lt. Oehring declared. "Evidence that the registrant actually is enlisted in the land or naval forces of the United States is all that is required. Such notice or evidence is forwarded to each particular draft board immediately upon enlistment of a registrant in the Navy."

Local boards receive credit for each enlistment just the same as if the man had been inducted into the Army, he added.

However, the Chillicothe recruiters warned that registrants should not wait until the last minute to seek enlistment in the Navy, that application should be made at least four or five days before the date set for Army induction.

RECKLESS OPERATION CHARGES ARE FILED

J. A. Gault, facing a charge of reckless operation of a motor vehicle, filed by Clarence F. McDonald, pleaded guilty in the court of Justice W. W. DeWees and was fined $10 and costs.

However Gault paid for the damage to the McDonald car and the $10 was suspended, leaving only the costs to be paid.

JULY RAINFALL INCH AND HALF UNDER NORMAL

Mean Temperature for Last Month Was Exactly Normal Here

Rainfall during the month of July was 2.24 inches, compared with a normal of 3.74 inches; 2.87 inches July of last year and 1.20 in July, 1940.

This means that deficiency for the month was 1.5 inches, which further increased the deficiency for the year.

The summary compiled by U. S. Weather Observer Stanley Mark shows that there were 9 days in July when the mercury was 90 or above, and that there were five days classified as partly cloudy.

Mean maximum temperature was 87 degrees and mean minimum was 61 degrees. The mean temperature was 74 degrees, or exactly normal.

Last year 74.5 was the mean temperature, so that the month just ended was slightly cooler than July in 1941.
